Here at the Mendocino Center for Spiritual Living:

We believe in fellowship. We experience fellowship when we join with others to affirm our power to love and heal. Our spiritual fellowship supports us in being the powerful beings that we are.

We believe in Divine Principle. Ernest Holmes, founder of the New Thought movement known as Science of Mind, defined Divine Principle as "spiritual causation operating through Universal Law". Another way of saying this is, we live in a creative medium that responds to the impress of our thoughts and feelings. It moves to create the manifestation of our dominant thoughts and feelings in our life experience. For example, if when we wake up in the morning we think and feel, "Oh, what a beautiful morning...." and our dominant thoughts and feeling stay in that direction, we will see evidence on the physical plane of that thought materializing.

We believe in the power of spiritual alignment, our form of affirmative prayer, to change our thinking about conditions in our lives that appear to limit or separate us from the Good that is ours. As our thinking aligns with Spirit, our consciousness grows.

As active members, we nurture our community which nurtures us. Members contribute to the Service Ministry by bringing flowers to beautify our space, refreshments to share and by helping where joyful giving is needed. We have learned that as we give of our time, talents, money and vision, we deepen our joy in fulfilling and expanding our capacity to give and to receive.

Our intention is to express inclusive loving kindness and to expand in our ability to love, bless and heal in our Universe. We continue to find and express life affirming ways to recognize the Divine in all life. Our Center is an ideal setting to practice constructive communication that combines compassion and honesty to find positive resolution to any concerns that might arise.

Together we co-create the dynamic life of the Mendocino Center for Spiritual Living expand its programs and thereby bless and serve our Center, our community and ourselves. Through membership in the Center, we honor the Spirit in ourselves and the Spirit at work as the Mendocino Center for Spiritual Living.

My spiritual philosophy is in alignment with the Mendocino Center for Spiritual Living,
